RECEPTION FOR MISS PLEASANTS AND TYLER

Woman's Club to Hold First Musical of Season, This Afternoon—Entertainment Announced.

Several interesting events will engage the attention of society this afternoon. Miss Roberta Kyle Pleasants and Miss Mary Lyon Tyler will be guests of honor at a reception this afternoon given by Mrs. Rosalind Gilliam and Miss Virginia Pleasants, from 5 to 7 o'clock, at their home, 11 E. Franklin Street. Both are debutantes of the season, and Miss Tyler is the daughter of Judge D. Gardner Tyler, of the Fourteenth Circuit, and Mrs. Tyler. Mrs. Tyler was, before her marriage, Miss Mary Morris Jones, of Richmond, and has many relatives and friends throughout the State.

A large audience will go to the Woman's Club this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to attend the first musical of the season there. Mrs. A. B. Gulson is chairman of the afternoon and Miss Jean Trigg is the soloist.

To Be Entertained in Lynchburg

It is of much interest here that Mrs. William Cumming, Story, president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution, will be in Lynchburg December 6 and 7 as the guest of the Lynchburg Chapter, R. A. and the house guest of Mrs. Thomas D. Christian, regent of that chapter. Mrs. Story was entertained in Richmond last season, and has many friends here. Mrs. F. M. Maupin, State regent, and Miss Florence G. Finch, of the D. A. R. Magazine, will also be entertained at the home of Mrs. Christian in Lynchburg.

The Lynchburg Chapter will entertain from 4 to 6 Monday at a reception in honor of those distinguished women at the residence of the regent, and the Blue Ridge Chapter will entertain at the home of Mrs. N. C. Ivey Monday morning. Mrs. Story will address the daughters on the evening of December 6.

Dance for Miss Chambers

Mrs. and Mr. Allen Chambers have issued invitations for a dance in honor of their debutante daughter, Miss Martha Chambers. The affair is to take place on the evening of Thursday, December 17, at 8 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chambers, 814 Park Avenue.

Card Party Friday

Mrs. and Mr. R. W. Payne, of 2509 Hanover Avenue, celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of their marriage on Friday evening at a card party, given in their home. Decorations were in palms and ferns and yellow chrysanthemums, and supper was served at the card tables. Attractive prizes were awarded, and eight tables were engaged. Mr. and Mrs. Payne received the following guests: Mrs. M. J. Payne, of Alexandria; Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Woodfin; and Misses Elizabeth and Margaret Barbee served punch.

Engagement Announcement

Mrs. J. W. Goss announces the engagement of her daughter, Mary Stuart, to Monroe Osborn Wilson, of Amelia County. The marriage will take place on December 5, at the home of the bride's mother at the University of Virginia.

Married in Pennsylvania

The wedding of Allan W. Gibson, of Richmond, and Miss Isabel Drummond, of Ashland, Pa., took place at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon in Brainerd Union Presbyterian Church, Easton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William J. Drummond, of Nankin, Tenn.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" as the bride party entered the church. The bride was preceded by her maid of honor, Miss Blanche Speer, of Pen Argyl, Pa., her bridesmaid, Miss G. Anderson, of Philadelphia. The church was prettily decorated with palms and chrysanthemums. After the ceremony Mendelssohn's wedding march was played as the party left the church.

The bride was gown in deep cream Chinese brocade crepe, trimmed with point lace, with court train and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. The maid of honor wore pink chiffon and carried pink roses. Mrs. William J. Drummond, mother of the bride, wore black and white chiffon, trimmed with Spanish lace, and Mrs. Edwin W. Gibson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of Alice blue satin with ecru lace coat. Mrs. Harry P. Gibson, aunt of the bride, wore a blue crepe, trimmed with gold lace in cape effect.

Among the guests from out-of-town were Mrs. I. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Anderson, Mrs. Joseph Hill, Miss Anna Hill, Mrs. William T. Kause, all of Philadelphia; Mr. and Mrs. A. Speer, of Pen Argyl; Miss Marjorie Sawyer, of Glen Falls, N. Y.; Miss Mann, of Lewistown, Pa.; Miss Sara Bracey, of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mrs. Edwin W. Gibson, of Baltimore; George W. Gibson, grandfather of the bridegroom, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Gibson, of Shenandoah, N. Y.

Following the ceremony, reception was held in the parlor in the church. After a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will be at home at 204 North Sheppard Street, Richmond.

Curfew Night. A wedding of much interest was solemnized at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning in St. Patrick's Catholic Church by Rev. J. J. McKee, when Miss Anne Theresa Enright, daughter of Mrs. T. J. Enright, of the city, was united in marriage to Charles Curley, of Curley, Pa. The church was decorated with palms and potted plants, and as the bride entered the church, on the arm of her brother, William F. Enright, who gave her in marriage, the wedding march from "Lohengrin" was rendered by Mrs. Thomas R. Ryan. The bride was attired in a traveling suit of blue, and carried a shower of lilies of the valley and orchids. She was attended by her sister, Miss Nell V. Enright, as maid of honor, who was gown in yellow satin trimmed with real lace, and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The groom was attended by his brother, Charles Curley, as best man. The groomsmen were: Dr. Frank R. Kelly, William J. Melvin, L. Lewis Fraser, William J. Ryan, James M. Morgan, James, and James J. Bolten and Charles F. O'Donnell. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Curley left for a Northern tour.

For Mr. Danner. The pretty suburban home of Mrs. Mary S. Danner, near 21 of the Richmond-Petersburg car line, was on Thursday evening the scene of an enjoyable Thanksgiving supper party in honor of Howard Danner, son of the hostess, who is a student in a college in Raleigh, N. C., and who came home to spend his holidays. The hall and parlor were prettily decorated with running cedar, holly and autumn leaves, and of fragrant flowers ornamented the mantels and tables. The color scheme of the dining-room and table was orange and blue.

There was a delightful program of vocal and instrumental music and choice readings. Mrs. Danner's solo singing was highly enjoyed. After the formal program, a supper was served and then there was an hour of social gossip.

Among the out-of-town friends who attended or wrote their regrets at inability to be present and sent cordial greetings to the guest of honor, were Mrs. N. E. Robey and Edward Dan-

After the ceremony a reception was given at the home of Captain and Mrs. J. P. Lovelace.

The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Hauser and her daughter; Mrs. T. J. Gold, Halstead Tomlinson, Mrs. Emily Young, Miss Virginia Lovelace, Mr. C. G. Harris, Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Lovelace, Flournoy Lovelace, Dr. and Mrs. William Speer, Miss Bessie Rouse, J. C. Hankins, Talbot Lacy and David Blair.

The couple left on the midnight train for an extended Northern trip.

Interesting Entertainment. An attractive entertainment will be given by the Girls' Auxiliary of Grove Avenue Baptist Church on Friday from 3:30 to 10 o'clock. Among the interesting features planned for the entertainment of the visitors will be Chinese games, played by little girls in costumes, and a Japanese lullaby will be sung by Elizabeth Diggs, and "The Jap Doll" by Miss Ida Deck.

Entertained in Ashland. Messrs. Gordon and William Hammond gave an informal dance at their home on Friday evening of last week in honor of their guests, Misses Laura Blanton, Lucy Tompkins, Mabel Warren, Sadie Slaughter, Rose Harmon, Messrs. Cary Wingfield, Bob Baldwin, Tom Gresham, all of Richmond. Among the other guests were Misses Mary Hutchinson, of King William; Ethel Whittett and Lucile Bray, of Richmond; Virginia Potts, Virginia Marshall and Mildred Hart, of Ashland; Messrs. B. Vaughan, M. Luck, H. Bedding, G. Miller, R. Turner, A. Short, T. Potts, D. Lawson, C. Collins, B. Beale, P. Cogbill, B. Meers, W. Midyette, B. Rice, L. Wright, F. Hutchings, P. Hall, Tom and Frank Christian and Russell Scott.

Charity Dance. Among the many Thanksgiving attractions is a dance to be given at Miss Ella Buford's studio, corner of Madison and Grace Streets, to-night, by the young members of the Equal Suffrage League of Virginia. The proceeds will be equally divided between the needy poor of Richmond and the sufferings of the cause of Virginia. The public is cordially invited, and a large crowd is expected.

Smith—Moore. Miss Hannah M. Moore, of Norfolk formerly of Newport News, and John P. Smith, of Quinton, Va., were quietly married Thursday afternoon in Newport News at the home of Mrs. L. A. Richards, the bride's sister, Rev. L. Banks officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left immediately after the ceremony for a bridal trip to several Northern cities.

Dr. Van—Wilkinson. A beautiful wedding occurred Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stanley Hall, 1200 Decatur Street, when Miss Edna Hall, daughter of the hostess, was united in marriage to Dr. Paul Pemberton Du Val, of Richmond. The parlor was tastefully decorated.

Rev. William Peyton, of Richmond, performed the ceremony. The bride party entered to the strains of "The Wedding March," rendered by Miss Reva May Williams, of Lynchburg.

The bride wore a blue traveling suit with gloves and hat to match, and carried a bouquet. The maid of honor, Miss Mary Abner Wilkinson, sister of the bride, wore yellow crepe meteor with real lace, and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Smart, of Washington, and Miss Silence La Prade, of Richmond. They wore pink messaline and carried pink chrysanthemums. The best man, the ribbon bearer, was little Miss Margaret Knight, of Richmond, and Andrew Taylor, of Norfolk, nephew of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Dr. extended Northern tour, including New York and other cities. On their return they will be at home to their friends at Charlottesville.

HAVE A CHURCH WEDDING WHILE PARENTS ARE AWAY

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILMINGTON, N. C., November 29.—Robert Ruark, a well-known young man of Wilmington, claimed as his bride Miss Charlotte Adkins, of Southport, daughter of Captain and Mrs. E. H. Adkins, in spite of parental objection. They didn't have to run away from home, either, but, on the contrary, had a church wedding. However, they selected the very opportunity when Captain Adkins, the bride's father, and Mrs. Adkins were both away. The former was on the high seas and the latter had gone to a near-by town to spend the day. So, accompanied by several friends from Wilmington, the young couple went Southport, was met there by the bride and a bevy of her friends, and a regular church marriage was celebrated, after which the bridal party came by steamer to Wilmington, where a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Ruark.

THANKSGIVING DAY ROMANCE TERMINATES IN WEDDING

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WILMINGTON, N. C., November 29.—Football was not the only interesting happening in Wilmington on Thanksgiving Day. On that day started a romance which ended in the marriage in Washington, D. C., of one of Wilmington's foremost society young women and one of the society leaders of Charlotte, N. C. As members of a party from this State were Miss Ernestine Bridgers, daughter of Mrs. P. L. Bridgers, of Wilmington, and Walter Alexander, Jr., of Charlotte. While in Richmond they decided to get married, but found it impossible to be wedded in Richmond, because the bride is not of age. So, on Friday morning, accompanied by Hamilton Young attorney, of Charlotte, they slipped out of the hotel, drove to the Seaboard Air Line depot, and caught a train for Washington, where they were married, and then departed on a Northern bridal tour.

How to Dress the Hair

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

(Copyright, 1914, by Lillian Russell.)

It takes the most perfect outline and the most perfect arrangement of the hair in the middle and sides in the case of the neck. Quality and texture are but the least of the hair's beauties. Color and shading are necessary, a hair of one tone devoid of stains, washes and oils.

The head should be studied carefully, and the coiffure arranged to give a perfect outline. Piling the hair upon the crown of the head, in a coiffure, is a mistake. An accentuated Psyche knot is ridiculous, while a small one is classic.

All curls dangling about the neck have the appearance of hiding defects. The fringe over the forehead gives one a stupid look.

The odor of the hair is a most important factor in the summing up of its many charms. Cleanliness of the brush and hair is the most refined and advanced method of securing its sweetness.

The use of sachet powders concealed within the coiffure and the sprinkling of strong perfumes upon the hair are the most effective means of securing cleanliness like a state moon of civility and electric light compared with heaven's orb of night.

Remember: The small head should always affect a soft, fluffy coiffure. It is only a large head that can look well with a plastered-down head dress.

Lillian Russell's Answers. Mrs. D. G.: There is nothing about a woman that tells her age like her neck. The following simple exercise I have found invaluable as a beautifier for the neck: Lie flat on your back on a couch or across a bed, with the head hanging far down over the edge, then bring the head up and over until the chin touches the forehead. Repeat this exercise until the muscles along the front of the neck. If you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope I will send you instructions for remedying a double chin and flabby neck.

C. T. T.: Bathe your arms in warm water, then take a piece of pumice stone and rub the arms with it. At night rub a good cold cream into the arms and allow it to stay on. The pumice stone gradually will remove the roughness. Nourish the skin with a good drug store. Do not get the powdered pumice stone.

Mrs. J. C.: Don't use home remedies for earache if they involve putting anything into the ear. So far as putting the ear close to hot flannel or applying a bag of heated salt, you may do that safely, and usually with good effect. Dropping sweet oil in the ear is the worst thing you can do. In the case of any serious ear trouble, don't experiment yourself. It is too dangerous.

Jennie: If your nose is oily, wipe it off once or twice a day with diluted alcohol. Put a pinch of borax into the water, now and then when you wash your face. You may use a good rich powder that is absorbent. Avoid all rich and greasy food. After washing the face, apply a good astringent lotion. This will remove the oil from the face. Send me a stamped, addressed envelope and I shall send you formula for an astringent lotion.

Clarice: It is better to wear a low-busted corset and a brassiere than a high-busted corset, for the latter is apt to make you look round-shouldered. The low-busted corset gives a smoother and more desirable line, besides being more comfortable.

Dr. Brady's Health Talks
Headache and Its Causes.

Hypertension, or increased pressure within the skull, is a most frequent cause of headache. This is characterized by a constant, dull, throbbing, aching pain, usually present in the forehead, but even in the headache of simple constipation the hypertension of the head is the direct explanation of the pain. The hypertension is an active cathartic is obviously due to sudden reduction of hypertension.

The headache of heat exposure is due to hypertension. So is the headache of alcohol. The headache of the drinker, the excessive use of tobacco, and the tea or coffee head.

All Headaches Are "Nervous." Certain individuals will faint away from comparatively slight causes, because, as we say, they are "nervous" or neurotic. So it is in the complaint of headache; what one will describe as a "faintness" or "dizziness" another will describe as a severe headache. A great many sufferers imagine they have "nervous" headaches, and that is, therefore, out of the question. That is a mistake. Slight causes will produce severe headaches in those of nervous temperament, but there is always a cause in the patient's own economy, and usually this cause can be removed.

Auto-intoxication, from food stasis (constipation), kidney insufficiency, uraemia and inactivity of the skin, is a frequent cause of periodical headaches. The poison is taken into the blood, but the system manages to warehouse overloads of toxic waste products for a certain time, then, when the waste is too great, it is poured out, there comes an overflow and a seizure of headache.

Anaemia, lead poisoning, syphilis, malaria, unsuppressed Bright's disease, high blood pressure, hypertrophied turbinated bodies in the nose, impacted molar teeth, and enlarged tonsils or adenoids are common causes of headache.

To take medicine for headache without making a consistent effort to reach out and remove the cause, is a foolish and often a dangerous policy. Pain in or about the head is just as serious an indication of mental attention as is pain about the heart. In either case the cause may be trifling or not; thorough examination may reveal factors which the patient has never dreamed of.

Questions and Answers. Pond father of six typewriters: We have been much interested in your talks, especially those bearing on "colds." Now, what would you consider the acid test in a family of our size? We use a porch bedroom most of the year. Our furnace refuses to give more than 65 or 68 degrees Fahrenheit. No grandmothers, no colds, no pneumonia, excepting myself, of course. And our youngsters go in and out at will, wearing whatever they please. Would you consider us sane on the subject?

Reply: Put her there. I don't think you need a test at all, but as you insist: Do the children realize that they can't catch anything from the weather? If they do, you pass. And what do you do with all the money you save on doctor bills?

A. M. C. writes: For months I have noticed a cloudiness in the urine, a whitish substance, and it is of a very red color. When I drink plenty of water, as you suggest, this clears up, but I don't have natural thirst, so I know I don't drink enough. Will doing correct this?

Reply: A larger quantity of fresh fruit and vegetables and a smaller quantity of meat in the diet will probably correct it. If there are other symptoms than you have mentioned, it would be wise to have an analysis made.

Mrs. W. A. T. writes: A young lady is extremely nervous and jumps when any one of the opposite sex touches her. She seems to feel the slightest motion towards her. Is there a cure for such a condition?

Reply: Yes. Psychical analysis of the condition by an expert neurologist is advisable.

Mrs. E. R. H. requests: Will you please tell me whether there is anything a woman can take to relieve headache and dizziness during the change of life?

Reply: Your headaches and dizziness are certainly not attributable to a normal process. There must be a cause which has nothing to do with the change of life. Find out what that cause is.

PLAINTIFF WINS CASE AND IS GIVEN DAMAGES
Jury Awards $2,500 to Man Who Was Injured at Railway Crossing.

FARMVILLE, VA., November 29.—The Circuit Court of Prince Edward County adjourned yesterday, after one of the longest sessions for years. The case of Jennings against the Norfolk and Western Railway Company was the most important tried, the plaintiff claiming $10,000 damages for injuries alleged to have been received at the Main Street crossing in Farmville two years ago. The defendant declined to introduce any evidence, relying upon a demurrer to the plaintiff's evidence. The jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff, fixing the damages at $2,500. Judge Hundley sustained the verdict.

The agricultural fair held on Friday was a decided success. About fifty people under the auspices of farmers, financially backed by the town and county authorities. Although advertised for only two weeks and arranged for within a short time, the exhibits of fruits, poultry, swine and other farm products were fine, and the crowd in attendance large.

Very little tobacco is being marketed here, though the prices paid compare favorably with those of last season. With a good "season" for taking down and handling the weed, the local buyers are expecting large sales before the Christmas holidays.

Candidates already are announcing themselves for senatorial honors from the Twenty-eighth Senatorial District, represented now by Robert K. Brock, of Prince Edward. Mr. Brock will be a candidate for re-election, while Lunenburg has two candidates, who have announced themselves. They are George E. Allen and Dr. E. L. Kendig.

NEWS OF ASHLAND

ASHLAND, VA., November 29.—The Town Council, at its meeting on Friday, passed an ordinance providing for a special election to be held on December 19, at which election the voters of the town shall elect a mayor and two members of the town council. This ordinance is now in the hands of the Mayor for his approval.

The Ashland Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity gave a delightful oyster roast at their home on Railroad Avenue last night. The guests were very numerous and the evening was enjoyed.

Dr. J. Thomson Booth, of the State Department of Health, is spending several days with friends here.

North Carolinians Unconcerned After Killing Three People and Fatally Wounding Wife.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., November 29.—Low Daniels, an alleged "moonshiner" of the Pisgah section of Randolph County, says an Asheville special, was removed from the jail at Asheville to-day and taken back home for a preliminary hearing on the charge of the murder of Edgar Varner, his sister, Cora Daniels, and the sister of his wife, Ethel Luther. He is also said to have shot and fatally wounded his wife. The shootings occurred at the Daniels home last evening, and, although officers arrested Daniels and placed him in jail at Asheville last night, details of the tragedy are a mystery.

When the officers searching for Daniels arrived, according to reports of the affair, they went to his home and found him with the dead around him, unconcernedly picking a banjo. He has done nothing since his arrest, it is said, that would lead any one to believe that he cares for the grave charge against him or its consequences.

Forest Mills

Fine Weave
KNIT UNDERWEAR.

Women will say: "I dislike fine knit underwear because the seams are thick and uncomfortable where joined." Such women are not familiar with the "Forest Mills Brand." The new "flatlock" seam has removed this, the only valid objection offered to the fine weave garment. It is the only seam which is an abutted seam—the fabric being joined together without overlapping, and the seam is no thicker than the fabric itself. This is, of course, the ideal condition for comfort and for correct corseting.
